The Reinke Learning Management System (LMS) is a free subscription based premium resource to provide Reinke dealership personnel with a variety of on-line training and reference material. This resource library will cover a variety of topics from formal service training to informative marketing material such as new product releases.

The Learning Management System (LMS) is recommended for all Reinke dealership personnel. It has many different purposes including certification credit, Reinke dealership training compliance, access to marketing material, and access to reference material.

Terms and Conditions of Use:

Access to Reinke LMS is only for approved current Reinke dealership personnel. This resource is not intended for customer use. All material used in the Reinke LMS is considered proprietary and confidential. This material is not to be copied, shared, or distributed.

Your dealership must determine which individuals you want to have access to this resource. Complete the User Registration Form included with this document to provide Reinke Manufacturing Co. Inc., with the data for these approved individuals.

Structured training courses for certification credit are subject to the current rules regarding prerequisite courses and order of completion to be counted toward certifications, or for fulfillment of, individual or dealership training requirements. While your personnel will have the ability to view any of the material at will, all required sections (and any applicable prerequisites) must be taken before that training will count for certification credit.
