Surface Water Rights and Availability

Water rights in Texas, water conservation plans, drought contingency plans, environmental flows, and ensuring compliance.

► Annual Water Use Reports (WURs) can be submitted electronically via SUNSS Surface Water Rights Data (SWRD) for non-Watermaster areas. Water Right holders can fill out the WUR form online in SUNSS and submit electronically. They can also use TCEQ Excel spreadsheet templates to upload their data into the SUNSS work area. Find more information at Submitting Your Annual Water Use Report. Please send an e-mail to WUR@tceq.texas.gov for assistance.

► Water Right Applications should be submitted in two parts: an electronic copy should be submitted directly to WRPT@tceq.texas.gov, and one hard copy should be submitted to the TCEQ Central Office, Mail Code 160 with the required payment. If the files are too large to be submitted via e-mail, TCEQ's FTP may be utilized. Please visit the FTP help site for more information on how to transfer. If you need to submit a Water Right application via FTP, please send an e-mail to WRPT@tceq.texas.gov for further direction on how to transfer these files to staff.

Change of Ownership requests may be submitted directly to WRCOO@tceq.texas.gov. If your files are too large to be submitted via e-mail, TCEQ's FTP may be utilized. Please visit the FTP help site for more information on how to transfer. If you need to submit a Change of Ownership via FTP, please send an e-mail to WRCOO@tceq.texas.gov for further direction on how to transfer these files to staff.

► TCEQ Water Rights Viewer - The TCEQ Water Rights Viewer includes information about water rights authorizations and other water related information. A user can find information about the location of authorized water rights points, a copy of the water right and the Adjudication Final Determination, current ownership of the water right, recent water use data, and TCEQ's adopted environmental flow standards.

Am I Regulated? Water Rights in Texas

What is state water? How is it regulated in Texas? Who needs a permit to use it? Find out how to apply to use state water or to change the ownership or authorizations of an existing water right.

What is State (Surface) Water?

- The water of the ordinary flow, underflow, and tides of every flowing river, natural stream, and lake, and of every bay or arm of the Gulf of Mexico, and the stormwater, floodwater, and rainwater of every river, natural stream, and watercourse in the state.
- Water that is imported from any source outside the boundaries of the state for use in the state, and that is transported through the bed and banks of any navigable stream within the state, or by utilizing any facilities owned or operated by the state.
- State water does not include percolating groundwater; nor does it include diffuse surface rainfall runoff, groundwater seepage, or spring water before it reaches the watercourse.

Who Owns State Water?

Surface water in Texas is owned by the state and held in trust for the citizens of the state. The state grants the right to use this water to different people, such as farmers or ranchers, cities, industries, business, and other public and private interests.

How Are Water Rights Prioritized?

Water rights have priority dates which indicate the seniority of one water right over another, known as "first in time, first in right." In times of drought, those with the earliest dates have the right to get water before those with newer dates. Today, priority dates for new appropriations of water are based on the date the application is declared administratively complete.

Do I Need a Permit to Use State Water?

Anyone who wants to use surface water in Texas must first get permission from the state, unless they are using the water for one of several "exempt uses" in the Texas Water Code.

Some exemptions include: domestic and livestock use, wildlife management, emergencies like wildfires, and other specified uses (see Texas Water Code Section 11.142 ▾

What if I'm in a Watermaster Area?

If you are in the Brazos, Concho, or Rio Grande River basin, or South Texas, see our Watermasters webpage for information about water rights in these areas.

Where do I get an annual WUR form and can I fill it out online?

The TCEQ mails Water Use Report (WUR) forms to Water Right holders in January of each year. Each individualized form is sent to Water Right holders based upon the authorized use(s) listed in the permit. If you have not received yours, please contact the Water Rights Compliance Assurance Team at the contact information below.

WUR forms can now be filled out and submitted online through the Surface Water Rights Data (SWRD) module of SUNSS (Single-Use Non-CROMERR Submission System).

To submit your Water Use Report online, go to the SUNSS login page. In order to enter data for a WUR, the user will need to provide a Form Identification Code that is specific for each WUR. The Form ID code will be printed on the back of the WUR forms that are mailed out to Water Right holders every January for annual reporting. Note: The new online system is only available for non-Watermaster areas.
