would love to hear more about the Self Employed/1099	yve rojas	live answered
Those of us who get a "distribution" (LLC for me) through our own companies as our pay, do we file PPP self employed (not a 1099)? What if we have already filed PPP for our employees but were omitted in the initial application.	Christie King	live answered
Is the employee retention credit in addition to PPP, or is it a either/or situation?	John Schultz	live answered
We've applied for PPP. Have you seen guidance regarding how long the approval/funding process is?	John Schultz	live answered
I was just on my banks website and found out that they closed new applications because of the volume any suggestions on what to do next?	KURT R JOHNSON	live answered
Back to the distribution question, I don't get a 1099 for my compensation but is reflected below the line.	Christie King	live answered
I'm still abit confused if I have an auction house & am self-employed. you said apply for 2 programs?	Carelle Carter	live answered
I have an S-corp for my auction gallery (I am President and 100% owner), and a separate LLC for my benefit auction business. Am I eligible for benefits for both entities?	Darin Lawson	oh, and the LLC has no employees but me	live answered
